

The Lump In The Carpet

By Susano (original post)

From time to time the PCs will spot a large lump in the carpet. Large as in something the size of a cat seems to be hiding under it. And if they watch, carefully, the lump seems to quiver every so often. Watch it long enough and you will realize the lump has slowly drifted across the floor and is now under a different section of the carpet. No one else seems to notice the lump, although everyone does step around it.

Once the PCs have gotten used to the lump, similar (albeit smaller lumps) appear under the wallpaper.
