The Time Traveller

By Curufea (original post)

No one knows his name, or in fact what he really looks like. He wanders around the hotel, carries out his business, almost as if he were a ghost. The traveller exists in a slightly different time frame, in a slightly different hotel.

He wanders about on a floorplan that isn't consistent with current hotel. He will occasionally open doors or go up stairs that aren't there. Or he may walk through a couch to greet a non-existant person on the other side.

Being slightly out of phase, he appears to be moving in slow motion and his features are blurred.

Occasionally his phase will align with the current reality by about a half an hour (33 minutes to be exact). Something may happen, such as a book being picked up, or a door being opened and a half hour later the Traveller will be seen performing the action.
